Executive Summary

Real port call statistics were acquired from Finnish, Estonian and Russian maritime administrations and port authorities. Total port calls (two way voyage) were approximately 18 500 pieces without scheduled passenger ships. Ship calls to the ports of the Baltic countries are following:

- Finland 3872 calls
- Estonia 2363 calls
- Russia 3844 calls
- Total 10079 calls

Ship calls will be the basic traffic for the simulation model. The anticipated development of the ship calls and outlined investments will be taken into account in defining different comparisons in the traffic simulations.

Total cargo volumes decreased 10 per cent in the Baltic Sea ports in 2009. There was fall in all cargo types but handling of containers decreased most, by nearly a quarter. Significant annual decline was also found in international other dry cargo volumes (-18%) in 2009. Between 2006 and 2009, total amount of cargo handled in Baltic Sea ports declined by 6 per cent. Over this period, countries in the eastern Baltic Sea were the first to suffer from declining cargo volumes.

Measured by total cargo volumes, Russia became the leading country in the Baltic Sea region, with a share of 23 per cent of total cargo traffic in 2009. For the third consecutive year, the three leading ports in the Baltic Sea, measured by total traffic volume, remained the same, namely Primorsk, St. Petersburg and Gothenburg. The majority of the top 10 ports were located in the eastern part of the Baltic Sea, and four of these were situated in the Gulf of Finland. Among the top 30, only seven ports were able to increase their total cargo volumes in 2009.

A significant growth is expected in the transports of new automobiles, oil products and chemicals. Export transports are growing more than import transports. In the Baltic Sea Region, the share of sea transports is relatively larger compared to the rest of Europe. In Baltic Sea Region approximately 50 % of foreign trade is transported by sea.

St. Petersburg has for many years been the dominant Russian Baltic port. However, its much-needed expansion is restricted by the close proximity of the city and the limited water depth. Newer ports are therefore being promoted where there is more space away from the congestion of St. Petersburg and yet close enough to serve its needs and to tie in to the main road and rail infrastructure. The new port at Ust-Luga is the most advanced of these developments, with several terminals already in operation. On the northern shore of the Gulf of Finland Primorsk and Vysotsk have been constructed quite recently.

2011 the two ports – Kotka and Hamina will be merged and as a result for the next years a strong and operative unity for containers, forestry products and Russian transit traffic will be established. The proposed volume for that port is planned to be around 15 million tonnes.

The Port of Helsinki had major changes ahead at the end of 2008 when the Vuosaari port area was opened, which redirected most of the cargo flows from the current three different port areas to the Vuosaari port area.

Port of Tallinn and Port of Sillamäe are the most active developers in the Port industry of Estonia. Paljassaare Harbour will be real estate development project in the near future and the cargo volumes there will decrease in the near future. Parnu and the rest of smaller ports will remain on the same level in the near future.

Terminology

|--------------------|---|
| one way voyage | navigation in same direction e.g. from entry point to a port |
| two way voyage | navigation in both directions |
| traffic simulation | simulation of all ships into ports and back over the whole route network and in an assistance of an icebreaker if needed |
| IMO code | International Code for the Construction and Equipment of Ships carrying Dangerous Chemicals in Bulk; IMO - formerly called IMCO, the IMO is the specialised agency of the United Nations responsible for maritime safety and efficiency of navigation |
| call sign | a group of letters and numbers used for ship's identification during radio transmission |
| GRT | gross register tonnage |

1 Objective of the work package

In this work package the focus was in

- wintertime ship calls to all ports in the defined sea area
- development of ship calls (opinions/interviews of port authorities and customers of the ports in Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Sweden and Russia),
- new outlined ports in Russia, Estonia

Ship calls will be the basic traffic for the simulation model. The anticipated development of the ship calls and outlined investments will be taken into account in defining different comparisons in the traffic simulations.

2 Collection of port calls data

Real port call statistics were acquired from Finnish, Estonian and Russian maritime administrations and port authorities. Total port calls (two way voyage) were approximately 18 500 pieces without scheduled passenger ships. Ship calls to the ports of the Baltic countries are following:

- Finland 3872 calls
- Estonia 2363 calls
- Russia 3844 calls
- Total 10079 calls

Moreover there is quite much port calls of the scheduled passenger ships. These port calls will be able to generate to the simulation model according to the table 14.

The Finnish port call data is included in the Annex 1, the Estonian data in Annex 2 and the Russian data in Annex 3. The port calls data has been delivered in Excel format. The data is composed of

- name of the vessel
- IMO code
- arrival date
- departure date
- previous port
- port of port call
- next port
- type of ship
- call sign
- GRT
- nationality of ship
- agent

Every observation of the port call data contains at least the name, arrival data, previous port, port of the port call and next port. Through the name it is also possible to solve the IMO code of the vessel and thus to utilise the ship register in getting vessel's technical properties for the simulations.

The collected port calls data make possible to assign an actual ship to enter the model at right time and to an actual destination according to the realised port calls.

Most ships are sailing from the port straight to the Baltic Sea (or vice versa). These cases are coded as "to Baltic Sea" or "from Baltic Sea". This entry/exit point is located in the very beginning of the route network in the Baltic Sea (see D5.1, Fig 1, page 7).

3 Development of the traffic

Total cargo volumes decreased 10 per cent in the Baltic Sea ports in 2009. There was fall in all cargo types but handling of containers decreased most, by nearly a quarter. Significant annual decline was also found in international other dry cargo volumes (-18%) in 2009. Between 2006 and 2009, total amount of cargo handled in Baltic Sea ports declined by 6 per cent. Over this period, countries in the eastern Baltic Sea were the first to suffer from declining cargo volumes.

The total amount of cargo handled in the ports was 10 per cent less than in 2008, amounting to 741 million tonnes in the Baltic Sea ports in 2009. Total cargo volumes decreased in all Baltic Sea countries except Estonia where the annual growth reached 6 per cent. In general, the decrease in international imports was more significant than in exports. In the Baltic Sea ports, imports decreased 17 per cent and exports 4 per cent in 2009.

Measured by total cargo volumes, Russia became the leading country in the Baltic Sea region, with a share of 23 per cent of total cargo traffic in 2009.

For the third consecutive year, the three leading ports in the Baltic Sea, measured by total traffic volume, remained the same, namely Primorsk, St. Petersburg and Gothenburg. The majority of the top 10 ports were located in the eastern part of the Baltic Sea, and four of these were situated in the Gulf of Finland. Among the top 30, only seven ports were able to increase their total cargo volumes in 2009.

Centre for Maritime Studies, University of Turku forecast's: the total volume handled in the BSR ports will see 2% growth in 2010, 2% growth in 2011 and 3% growth in 2012. This means that the peak levels of 2007/2008 in the Baltic Sea will not be reached until 2013. According to the Baltic Port Barometer, the expectations on the development of liquid bulk cargo volumes are not as good as for total cargo volumes. Approximately half of the respondents expects growth while the other half believe s that the liquid bulk volumes in their port will stay in this year's level in 2011. Compared with the previous Barometer, the expectations are slightly better.

Expectations for the dry bulk cargo development are more positive than for the liquid bulk cargo segment but slightly less positive than for the non-bulk cargo segment. One third of the respondents is not yet expecting growth. Prospects for the development of other dry cargo market are better than for bulk cargo market in the Baltic Sea. The majority of the respondents (78%) expect the handling of other dry cargo (non-bulk cargo) to grow in their port in 2011. The expectations have risen from the year before.

Expectations regarding the development of container handling in respondents' ports are similar to that of 'other dry cargo'. Majority (76%) foresee growth in their cargo volumes, while one in fourth expects no change. The expectations are particularly good in the eastern coast of the Baltic Sea. The outlook on container market has improved since previous Barometer.

The outlook on ro-ro segment is almost as good as for containers. Majority (70%) is expecting growth for 2011 but almost one third believe that the volumes will stay at the level of 2010.

3.1 Russian Ports and Cargo Volume

Cargo throughput at Russian ports increased to nearly 500m tonnes in 2009. This would be a nine per cent increase following the equivalent one per cent increase in 2008. However, these overall figures mask some difficult trends. Exports of coal, grain and oil have increased, while the throughput of fertilisers, timber and containers has decreased.

Combined with the start up of new port capacity, this caused starkly contrasting performances between different ports in 2009. Cargoes at St. Petersburg, for example, declined, while the new port at Ust-Luga continued to expand.

The northwest of Russia handled 45 per cent of cargoes, compared to 36 per cent in the south and 19 per cent in the east. Some 75 per cent of cargo tonnages through Russian ports are for export.

In total, the six Russian Baltic Sea ports in the study area handled 170.8 million tonnes of cargo in 2009, which was 2.4 per cent less than in 2008. Most of the decline was the result of a decrease in international imports, in contrast to the situation the year before, when international imports generated large part of the growth in total cargo volumes.

International traffic totalled 167.3 million tonnes in 2009, accounting for 98.0 per cent of total traffic. Moreover, international exports represented 88.4 per cent and imports 9.4 per cent of total traffic. Exports amounted to 150.9 million tonnes in 2009, representing an annual increase of 0.9 per cent while imports totalled 16.0 million tonnes, representing an annual decrease of 30.3 per cent.

Between 2006 and 2009, the total cargo volume in Russian ports increased 10.9 per cent, despite a decline in imports (-7.7%). In relative terms domestic traffic grew the most, by 249.8 per cent. During the same period, exports grew by 11.5 per cent. The peak year, measured in total cargo volume, was 2008.

3.2 Finnish Ports and Cargo volume in 2009

In total, Finnish ports handled 93.7 million tonnes of cargo in 2009, less than in any of the years between 2001 and 2008. Between 2008 and 2009, total cargo volume dropped 18.7 per cent. The biggest annual drop took place in imports, which fell 22.5 per cent, while exports fell by 15.3 per cent and domestic traffic by 13.6 per cent. As a result, the balance between imports and exports improved; imports accounted for 48.1 per cent and exports for 40.0 per cent of total traffic in 2009. In the previous year the share accounted for by imports was 50.1 per cent and exports 38.4 per cent.

Between 2006 and 2009, total cargo volumes in Finnish ports declined 13.6 per cent. Domestic transport fell the least, by only 1.5 per cent. During the same period, exports fell by 14.3 per cent and imports by 15.5 per cent.

3.3 Estonian Ports and Cargo volume

In total, Estonian ports handled 38.5 million tonnes of cargo in 2009, or 6.2 per cent more than in 2008. The biggest annual increase took place in imports, which grew 8.8 per cent, while exports grew by 5.6 per cent. The cargo handled in Estonian ports was almost entirely international, domestic traffic accounting only for 0.2 per cent of total traffic.

Exports constituted 77.4 per cent and imports 22.4 of total traffic in 2009. Between 2006 and 2009, total cargo volume in Estonian ports decreased 22.7 per cent. The decrease was due to a 31.7 per cent fall in exports.

Muuga dominated Estonian cargo traffic, with a share of 64.9 per cent of the national market. The ports forming the Port of Tallinn, namely Muuga, Paldiski South, Vanasadam and Paljassaare, grew their combined market share by 2.0 percentage points between 2008 and 2009. The annual increase in absolute terms was biggest in Sillamäe (+648 000 tonnes). Total volumes dropped most in Vene-Balti (-533 000 tonnes), Kunda (-316 000 tonnes) and Bekker (-209 000 tonnes).

Between 2006 and 2009, a majority of Estonian ports recorded a decline in their total cargo volumes. Cargo handling volumes grew most, in absolute terms, in Sillamäe (+1 981 000 tonnes), while the fall was greatest in Tallinn (-9 537 000 tonnes).

4 Development of Maritime transport in the study area

The Institute of Shipping Analysis (Gothenburg, Sweden), BMT Transport Solutions GmbH (Hamburg, Germany) and Centre for Maritime Studies (Turku, Finland) published a study on sea transportation scenarios in the area of the Baltic Sea, which was part of Master Plan Study for development of the Motorways of the Baltic Sea. The scenario extends to year 2020. The base year for statistical information is 2003 and the sea transportation is studied from two viewpoints: intra-BSR (Baltic Sea Region) and extra-BSR. BMO 2006 forecasts a growth of 64 % in sea traffic by the year 2020 compared to the year 2003. In 2020 oil products, industrial products, building materials and chemicals will dominate the trade. A significant growth is expected in the transports of new cars, oil products and chemicals. Export transports are growing more than import transports. In the Baltic Sea Region, the share of sea transports is relatively larger compared to the rest of Europe. In BSR approximately 50 % of foreign trade is transported by sea. The ports in the Gulf of Finland, besides the ports in Germany and Poland, are expected grow the most in regard to the port calls in BSR.

The Finnish Maritime Administration has published a long-term sea transport scenarios since the 1990's, which are updated from time to time. The latest scenario "Growth outlook of seaborne transport between Finland and foreign countries up to 2030" (Lehto et al. 2006; referred later as the FMA scenario) is from year 2006 and it reaches up to year 2030. When the long-term growth of GDP is assumed to be 2,5 %, demand for coal and oil products is assumed to stay at the same level as it is, the amount of sea transports between Finland and other countries is forecast to be 140 million tonnes in 2030 ~ a growth of 56 % between 2005 and 2030. The growth of imports is going to be larger than the growth of exports. Container traffic is forecasted to become threefold.

Forecasts for maritime transportation tonnes for the Russian ports in the Gulf of Finland vary from 250 - 360 mil tonnes in 2015. In the Transportation strategy of the Russian Federation until 2030 (The Ministry of Transportation of the Russian Federation 2008), the sea traffic in the ports of the Gulf of Finland is predicted to be 266 mil tonnes in 2015, of which 137.1 mil tonnes of liquid bulk and 128.9 mil tonnes of dry cargoes. Of the 266 mil tonnes, 40.1 mil tonnes would be transported in containers. The most optimistic views are based on port visions of the port capacity in 2015. If the most optimistic visions were to come true, the cargo tonnes would reach 357.7 mil tonnes in 2015.

Based of the above mentioned forecasts and interviews of the port authorities, and port officials, the growth estimation of Finnish and Estonian ports has been forecasted to be 33% until the year 2015. Russian cargo volumes are to be growing 32 %. Due to the opening of totally new terminals in Port of Ust Luga the majority of the growth of Russian cargo volumes is concentrated there.

5 New port investments

5.1 Russian Baltic sea ports

5.1.1 St.Petersburg Seaport

St. Petersburg has for many years been the dominant Russian Baltic port, boasting a vast maritime heritage. However, its much-needed expansion is restricted by the close proximity of the city and the limited water depth. The authorities are now seeking a transformation, with more focus on cleaner cargoes such as containers and cars, as well as cruise ships calls and land redevelopment. Some cargo developments have been stopped because they are environmentally undesirable.

Newer ports are therefore being promoted where there is more space away from the congestion of St. Petersburg and yet close enough to serve its needs and to tie in to the main road and rail infrastructure. The new port at Ust-Luga is the most advanced of these developments, with several terminals already in operation, but there are also some other new ports being considered. On the northern shore of the Gulf of Finland, for example, there are the ports of Primorsk, Vysotsk and Vyborg, with the former two having been constructed quite recently.

Transport Strategy of the Russian Federation until 2030 (adopted 2008); and the Federal Target Programme for “Russia’s transport system development in 2010-2015 have foreseen several investments in to the port sector. However due to the downfall of economy in 2007 and 2008, the state authorities have already announced plans to reduce funding for transport projects and have identified top-priority projects. In 2009, federal funding for seaport infrastructure modernisation projects was to have been 16,000 mil RUR. However due to the downturn in the global economy and the need to squeeze the federal budget in December 2008, the RF government made a decision to cut investment in the ports by 15 per cent, although it was stipulated that the projects actually underway should be completed. At the beginning of 2009 the funding was decreased by another 15 per cent and a decision taken not to start any new projects with a timeframe of 12 months or more. This affected berth reconstruction, dredging and other projects aimed at renovating the state infrastructure in almost every Russian seaport. These projects are likely to be re-started as the economic situation improves.

The St.Petersburg Seaport is Russia's main outlet to Europe and one of the oldest and largest ports in Russia. The port can handle cargo from trucks, rail cars, sea and river vessels and a wide variety of cargo in sizes ranging from boxes to large containers and locomotives. The port covers a vast territory and is the largest port on the Baltic Sea. Sea Port of St. Petersburg: this is the largest operator and includes the first, second, third and fourth stevedoring companies. With a total quay length of 6,000 m of quay and over 34 berths, the terminal can handle most types of cargo, including containers. Vessels up to 60,000 dwt with a maximum draught of 11.0m can be accommodated. In 2008, the overall cargo throughput was 11mil tonnes.

Currently the economic situation at the Seaport of St.Petersburg is relatively stable: the enterprise does not have debts to any government entities and it pays wages to its employees. However, competition from foreign Baltic ports requires modernisation of the port's facilities, expansion of its transport infrastructure, investment in the construction of new terminals and replacement of out of date equipment. The Seaport of St.Petersburg has prepared investment projects for the port's development.

These projects include:

1. Construction of a container terminal, which is currently 70% completed. The projected capacity of the terminal is 210 thousand containers per year. The port has already invested $36 millions of its own internal funds in the construction of the terminal. Currently, approximately $5 millions is required in order to complete the construction work and purchase handling equipment.
2. Construction of a handling complex for universal and food cargoes at berths No. 28-30. Project capacity is 1.25 million tons a year.
3. At the moment, reefer cargoes are handled in the port by temporary refrigeration units, therefore construction of a permanent reefer terminal is planned. Project capacity is 1,5 million tons per year.
4. Creation of a handling complex for mineral fertilizers with a projected capacity of 1.5 million thousand tons of mineral fertilizers a year.
5. Modernization of the existing container terminal, increasing its capacity to 150 thousand containers a year.
6. Reconstruction of existing and construction of new access roads to the port.

Development programme of port infrastructure up to 2015 envisages placing into operation of the following facilities:

1. terminal for ferrous metals with the annual capacity of 2 mil tons;
2. terminal for ro-ro cargoes with the annual capacity of 1.4 mil tons;
3. multipurpose handling facilities with the annual capacity of 3 mil tons;
4. second phase of car terminal with the annual capacity of 170 thousand units (255 thousand tons).

Petrolport JSC announced its port-development strategy in 2008, with a total investment cost of $886 mil. This included the following projects:

1. A container terminal development will expand the current capacity of 650,000 TEU per annum to an estimated capacity of 2-2.5 mil TEU. This project started in 2007 with the modernisation of existing facilities and the creation of new handling areas through land reclamation. Dredging is being undertaken to accommodate ships up to 12 m draft, with some new deepwater berths constructed. There will be a reefer container stuffing/ stripping facility on Volny Island, as well as rail terminal connections.
2. The construction of a new deepwater berth, and the reconstruction of an existing one, at the RoRo terminal, with modernisation of the storage space on Gladky Island.
3. Expansion of the reefer terminal, increasing the existing storage capacity of 20,000 tonnes of deep-frozen products to at least 40,000 tonnes – one of the largest in Russia.
4. Port infrastructure developments, including a new office and utility buildings, a new Customs zone with an inspection facility for 145 containers, and a new Customs inspection complex for 500 containers.

5.1.2 St. Petersburg Outer Harbours

In January 2009, the St. Petersburg government adopted the concept of developing the outer harbours, especially for containers and RoRo. Investments of up to 248 mil RUR are planned for 2010-2025, sourced from the federal and city budgets and private capital. These new port areas will be located in the Bronka – Lomonosov area and will cover 476 ha of land, of which 382 ha will be reclaimed from the sea. Terminal capacities have been projected for 2025 at 4.9 mil tonnes for Bronka, 9.5 mil tonnes for Kronshtadt and 11.5 mil tonnes for Lomonosov. This will require substantial dredging of the clay sea bed, which is largely in shallow water.

Moby Dick Container Terminal at Litke Base, Kronshtadt on Kotlin Island is the third-largest container terminal in the Greater Port of St. Petersburg and is co-owned by Global Ports Investments and Container Finance (Finland). Having started in 1997, Phase 1 and Phase 2 are in operation, with a capacity of 180,000 TEU. Phase 3 is planned to increase capacity to 500,000 TEU by 2013 on the 50 ha terminal. This Phase 3 development was initially delayed by a confrontation between Container Finance, which was the sole owner of the terminal before 2007, and the St. Petersburg government. This has been further hindered by an agreement to permit the storage of construction materials for the barrier on part of the proposed terminal site, and more recently by the economic crisis.

Universal Port Project at Lomonosov is being promoted by Baltimor, which currently operates seven berths leased from the Navy. The project involves 35 ha of land reclamation and the construction of 16 berths along 4,500 m of new quayside. Container, car, metal, perishables and timber terminals will be created, as well as adjacent logistics facilities (150ha). It is planned to be fully operational by 2020, with an initial throughput of 1 mil tonnes per annum, increasing to 6 mil tonnes over five years. The required investment is estimated to be $1,200 mil and will be financed by the consortium's own funds and loan money.

Lomonosov Cargo Terminal was started by Yantar JSC and it is understood, but not confirmed, that Mediterranean Shipping Company acquired a share in 2007 and that Alexander Ponomarenko, the major shareholder of Novorossiysk Commercial Sea Port JSC, now has a 50 per cent shareholding. The expansion plans are for a 1mil TEU per annum container terminal and a car terminal with a capacity of 300,000 vehicles per annum, all constructed on 70 ha of reclaimed land. Phase 1 was scheduled to start in 2010, but has been delayed. The project requires a dredged channel, new berths in a port basin, and associated equipment and infrastructure including railway connections. Construction was suspended in May 2008 as the land-rental agreement with the city government expired. This was extended in February 2009 and about a quarter of the reclamation has been done by contractor Consortium Hochtief / Boskalis BV, with completion not expected before 2012.

Bronka is planned to be a multi-purpose port comprising a 3 mil TEU per annum container terminal and 2.6 mil tonnes per annum RoRo terminals. Operated by Phoenix Ltd (OOO Feniks), it is located next to Bronka railway station and includes the Olgin Canal Settlement. Some 41.5 ha have been assigned for the initial stage, later to be expanded by reclaiming 80 ha. Phase 1 is estimated to cost 36,500 mil RUR, including over 10,500 mil RUR from the federal budget.

5.1.3. Sea Port of Ust-Luga

Commercial Sea Port of Ust-Luga is by far the most successful of the new ports vying for northwest Russia cargoes. Ust-Luga Company JSC acts as the port developer and has established joint-stock companies to develop separate terminals within the port on the basis of one company for each terminal. This philosophy also extends to the port infrastructure, such as road and rail connections.

Ust-Luga has been planned as a multi-user port to handle over 20 types of cargo, with an overall capacity of 120 mil tonnes per annum and six terminals already in operation. It is located close to the border between Russia and the EU, about 100 km from St. Petersburg. The navigation channel of 3.7 km is significantly shorter than for St. Petersburg Port, and therefore less ice breaking is required in winter. Ust-Luga, which has a water depth of 16m, is the only Russian Baltic port capable of accommodating both dry bulk vessels up to 75,000 dwt and oil tankers up to 120,000 dwt. Moreover, road and rail connections avoid the congested hubs at St. Petersburg, with more infrastructure being planned. There is additional land available for further development to the north in the Soikinsky peninsula.

Terminals currently in operation at Ust-Luga are:

1. Coal Terminal;
2. Universal Terminal (UPK);
3. European Sulphur Terminal;
4. Factor Timber Terminal;
5. Multi-Purpose Terminal Yug-2 (MPK Yug-2);
6. Rosmorport, Ust-Luga Branch (ferry terminal operator).

Terminals under construction are:

1. Multi-Purpose Terminal Yug-2 (MPK Yug-2) – extension;
2. Ust-Luga Container Terminal;
3. Bunker Terminal;
4. General Cargo Terminal;
5. Oil Terminal;
6. Liquefied Petroleum Gas Terminal.

The Coal Terminal, operated by Rosterminalugol JSC, can accommodate vessels up to 240 m LOA with a 32.2 m beam and has a capacity of 8 mil tonnes of coal per annum. There are two berths 540 m long in total and 14 m deep (to be dredged to 16 m under Phase 3), with a third 200 m long 12 m-deep berth to be built under Phase 3.

The Industrial Sulphur Terminal is operated by European Sulphur Terminal JSC. The project capacity is 10 m tonnes per annum for vessels up to 70,000 dwt and was inaugurated in late 2008. The fall in the price of sulphur has caused some problems. Universal Terminal (UPK) is part of Universal Cargo Logistics Holding BV, a transport holding with other interests in Sea Port of St. Petersburg JSC and Taganrog Commercial Sea Port JSC which is controlled by Vladimir Lisin of Novolipetsk Metal Plant. Since 1 July, 2009, the terminal has been managed by Transport Assets Management Ltd (OOO Upravlenie Transportnymi Aktivami – UTA), a company established to manage all the shipping and terminal assets controlled by Vladimir Lisin, as a subsidiary of Universal Cargo Logistics Holding. UPK has a 585 m quayside to handle vessels up to 70,000 dwt with 14 m draught. It has a land area of 13.7 ha and handles imports and exports of general and breakbulk cargo, with all-year-round operations and customs infrastructure.

The Factor Timber Terminal is a private project that has been operating since 2002 with 125 m of quayside and 27.9 ha of land. There are plans to expand from the current 250,000 tonnes per annum to 2.5 mil tonnes by 2015. This would involve constructing several berths to increase the quayside to 887 m, more open storage facilities, and road and rail access ways. The expansion was announced under favourable market conditions, but no further details have been made available.

The Rail Ferry Terminal is operated by Rosmorport. The ferry service between Ust-Luga – Baltiysk – German ports is viewed as a federal project and a link in the West – East transport corridor. The project envisages developing two ferry terminals (for rail and trucks/cars) to handle RoRo, car/car & truck carriers, rail ferries and rail & truck ferries to operate the routes between Ust-Luga and Baltiysk and Ust-Luga and German ports. The terminal currently has a 10 m-deep basin, with a double berth over 429m of quayside. The land area is 32.5 ha and there is a rail yard and rail station consisting of 16 tracks 8.7 km in total length to handle railcars and complete customs formalities. The projected capacity is 3.5 mil tonnes of rail cargo and 2 mil tonnes of road cargo per annum.

Multi-Purpose Terminal Yug-2 (MPK Yug-2) is a PPP project supported by the RF Investment Fund. The total cost is 8,400 mil RUR, including a federal investment of 2,011 mil RUR. The developer and operator is Ust-Luga Company JSC, with Ust-Luga Commercial Sea Port JSC in charge of the project. The terminal handles RoRo cargo, including new cars, containers and general cargo. The quayside is 1.5 km in length and the land area is about 100 ha. Construction is continuing and full capacity of 4.7 mil tonnes per annum is scheduled for 2012, with a throughput of 500,000 new cars and storage capacity of 13,000 cars at a time. A logistics centre is planned for the adjacent plot and this will be used for cars as well as for container stuffing/stripping.

Ust-Luga Container Terminal in the south part of Ust-Luga port is a PPP project developed by National Container Company (NCC) and co-investor Eurogate (which has a 20 per cent share in the terminal). Construction started in 2007 to develop terminal capacity of 3 million TEU, with a possible further expansion to 6 million. The overall investment by NCC up to 2020 is expected to be around US$800 mil with federal investment around US$110 mil. Phase 1 completion is planned for 2012.

Oil Terminal / Ust-Luga Bunker Terminal will be the terminal for the Baltic Pipeline System 2 (BPS-2) that is planned to be operational by 2012. The Declaration of Intent for selecting the site for the Ust-Luga Tank Farm was presented by Transneft JSC and Ust-Luga Bunker Terminal Ltd to the Leningrad Oblast Government in summer 2009. The tank farm will be on the east coast of Luga Bay, north of the Khabalovka River and will have a phase 1 capacity of 30 million tonnes per annum, increasing to 38 million tonnes when fully operable. Tankers up to 100,000 dwt will be loaded. The Ust-Luga Bunker Terminal Ltd will be controlled by Gunvor. Permission to buy the terminal has been granted by the RF Federal Anti-Trust Service to a Transneft subsidiary, MN Druzhba JSC, and the sale is currently in process.

Oil Products Terminal was started by Rosneftbunker JSC, affiliated with Zarubezhneft JSC, and then sold in March 2009 to Swiss oil trader Gunvor. Initially, the start of operations was scheduled for late 2009, with a phase 1 capacity of 10 mil tonnes of oil and bunker fuel per annum, increasing to a full project capacity of 25mil tonnes per annum. The oil and bunker fuel will be delivered to the terminal by rail for storage on the 80 ha site. There will be a quayside of 1,250 m, with a berth depth of 16 m to accommodate tankers up to 120,000 dwt. The estimated project cost is 25,900 mil RUR and a US$545 mil loan has been granted from Vneshekonombank.

5.1.4. Primorsk

Primorsk is 120 km northwest of St Petersburg and linked to the Baltic Pipeline System. It has been operating since 2001 as one of Russia's crucial oil-export ports. Throughput volumes have been building up from an initial 12mil tonnes per annum to the current annual level of 75 mil tonnes. The port is capable of loading four tankers at a time, with sufficient water depth to accommodate 150,000 tankers.

The Oil Products Terminal was officially inaugurated in May 2008, with a Phase 1 capacity of 8.4 million tonnes per annum. Operated by Balttransnefteprodukt, a subsidiary of Transnefteprodukt JSC, it handles products delivered by the mainline Kstovo – Yaroslavl – Kirishi – Primorsk pipeline. Phase 1 was constructed at a cost of US$1,300mil and includes a berth for 17,000-60,000 dwt tankers.

Phase 2 has a capacity of 17mil tonnes per annum, with a 480,000m³ tank farm. When fully operable, the completed project will have two deep berths for vessels up to 105,000 dwt, a tank farm of 720,000m³ and a capacity to handle 24.6mil tonnes per annum.

Primorsk Commercial Sea Port Management Company JSC has also applied to build petrochemical and container terminals in the Vysokinsky area of Primorsk port. Initially, Primorsk was planned as including two cargo areas, Yermilovsky (currently in use) and Vysokinsky (for further development). Terminals were proposed to handle LNG, general cargo, containers and breakbulk. Although there is little information available about this, the project is likely to go ahead in the longer term.

5.1.5. Vysotsk

Vysotsk is 160 km northwest of St. Petersburg and has facilities for handling dry bulk and oil, mainly for export.

5.1.6. Vyborg

Vyborg is close to the border with Finland and there is scope for modernising this multi-purpose port. However, the berths are old, the water depth is limited and the land is restricted to a narrow strip for cargo handling and storage. Because the town surrounds the port there is no space for expansion, except by land reclamation from the sea.

5.2 Finnish Baltic sea ports

5.2.1 Kotka & Hamina

2011 the two ports – Kotka and Hamina will be merged and as a result for the next years a strong and operative unity for containers, forestry products and Russian transit traffic will be established. The proposed volume for that port is planned to be around 15 million tonnes.

5.2.2 Loviisa

Port of Loviisa will concentrate in the future more on timber industry and will serve as an Finnish export harbour.

5.2.3 Hanko

In the future, the Port of Hanko expects an increase in the trailer and container traffic. With the current infrastructure and operations models the port is near its maximum capacity. If there will not be any investments and the operations continue as they are now, the port's competitiveness will suffer in the long run and the cargo amounts are said to start to decrease by the year 2015. The sea areas around Hanko are protected due to environmental reasons and the port is situated in the vicinity of Hanko city, which can hinder the development of the port. One option would be to optimize the use of current capacity. (Kivari et al. 2007)

5.2.4 Inkoo

The Port of Inkoo is a privately-owned public port. The Port Company is called Inkoo Shipping Ltd and it is owned by industrial companies. The Port tranships dry bulk, for instance coal, crushed stone and limestone. The traffic is import-oriented. Next to the Inkoo Port is also a berth of the Fortum power plant. In recent years, the port has expanded its storages and plans to build a new dock have been made.

5.2.5 Helsinki

The Port of Helsinki is the largest general port for import and export in Finland. The Port of Helsinki is also the biggest passenger port in Finland.

The Port of Helsinki had major changes ahead at the end of 2008 when the Vuosaari port area was opened, which redirected most of the cargo flows from the current three different port areas to the Vuosaari port area. The passenger terminals will stay in the port areas of Etelä- and Länsisatama as well as imports of coal at Sompasaari berth. Vuosaari is, above all, a port for unit loads: for containers and ro-ro units serving primarily consumer goods traffic. In addition, industrial products, raw materials and forestry products are transhipped in Vuosaari. Helsinki will remain to be the biggest import harbour for Finland in the future

5.2.6 Kilpilahti (Sköldvik)

The Port of Kilpilahti in Porvoo is the main port for petroleum product transshipments in Finland. It is also the biggest port in Finland when measured in tonnes. The Port of Kilpilahti is part of the Neste Oil Ltd Porvoo refinery. In Porvoo, the refinery Neste oil produces about 150 different oil products and constituents, main products being fuels and raw material for lubricants. The capacity of the refinery is approximately 11 million tons of crude oil annually. The Porvoo refinery also produces bio diesel, which is made from vegetable oils and animal fats. The production capacity of bio diesel is 170 000 tons at the moment, but in 2009 a new bio diesel production plant of the same size will be opened. A part of the production goes to the domestic markets and a part is exported mainly to Europe and North America. Besides its own production, the port also serves other companies in the industrial area of Kilpilahti: Borealis polymers Ltd and Styrochem Finland Ltd. Besides crude oil and oil products, also small amounts of other industrial feed materials, gases and chemicals are transported via Kilpilahti.

By year 2010, the biggest investments in the port of Kilpilahti were mainly fundamental improvements and renewals of pipelines. The port has five berths: five for oil, two for gas and chemicals and one for dry bulk.

5.2.7 Loviisa

The Port of Loviisa is a communally-owned port and its main cargoes in import include coal and crude minerals and in export, sawn wood and cereals. The amounts of handled cargo have been relatively small and the port cannot grow much with the current infrastructure. There are plans to build a new berth to the port in the near future. In the future, it could be possible that the Port of Loviisa could take its share of e.g. Russian transit traffic.

5.3 Estonian Baltic sea ports

Port of Tallinn and Port of Sillamäe are the most active developers in the Port industry of Estonia. Paljassaare Harbour will be real estate development project in the near future and the cargo volumes there will decrease in the near future. Parnu and the rest of smaller ports will remain on the same level in the near future.

5.3.1 Port of Tallinn

Port of Tallinn administers ports of Muuga, Old City Harbour, Paljassaare and Paldiski.

Muuga harbour development is based on zoning of the harbour area by commodity groups. For example, all liquid bulk goods terminals are clustered around the west-most end of the harbour, the only exception being the quays No 9a & 10a that have been built in the middle of the western part of the harbour due to technical reasons. Also, the coal terminal has been built further away from the dust sensitive goods and into the area that is least densely occupied.

According to the development plans of Muuga, the harbour area is extended eastwards towards the area between the existing container and coal terminals. At the Stage 1 of extending the eastern part of Muuga Harbour, up to 70 ha of land will be developed, of which about 23 ha is covered by the sea. In the course of the project, the existing quay No 16 will be extended by 100 metres (~328 ft) and a new quay (No 17) with a length of 378 metres (1,240 ft) and a depth of 14.5 metres (~48 ft) will be built. Additionally, approximately 27 ha surface area of the terminal will be prepared for the superstructure erection. Meanwhile, the required general infrastructure will be built for the entire eastern part: all communications and networks.

The new terminal and infrastructure will increase twofold the present-day container handling capacity of the Muuga Harbour. The completion deadline for this stage is the fourth quarter of 2010.

Commission decision of 26 December 2006 allocated funds from the EU Cohesion Fund to the Stage 1 of the extension project of the Eastern part of Muuga harbour in the approximate amount of 361 million Estonian kroons.

The preconditions for the Stage 2 of the extension to the Eastern part of Muuga Harbour have been met. During this stage, it is possible to build about 1,772 m (5,814 ft) of quay line (a 120m/~394 ft quay would be for the harbour fleet and the remaining 1,652 m/5,420 ft would be for the quays of prospective terminal(s) with a depth of 16 m/~52 ft). Up to 67 ha of terminal area will be added.

Muuga Harbour has a long term development plan including building of a breakwater (design stage co-financed by EU). The continuous expansion of port activities demands more attention to the maritime safety and facilitation of vessel navigation. The added benefit of building breakwaters is the increase in cargo handling volume on quays under weatherproof conditions plus the better environmental risk management in marine casualties. The project for breakwater has been drafted.

Paldiski South Harbour has been successfully developed over the past few years. Also in the development of this harbour, the zoning of the harbour area principle is applied, based on which the dry cargo and break bulk will be contained in the western part of the harbour. The eastern area is reserved for so called “clean storage” terminals for cars and biodiesel.

5.3.2 Port of Sillamäe

SILPORT is 100 % privately owned Port. SILPORT is the biggest private port in Europe. The owners are 50 % SILMET Group (Estonia) and 50 % Russian investors. SILPORT is the closest to Russia deep-sea port of the EU being located in Sillamäe on the southern coast of Gulf of Finland, 25 km from EU-Russia border. The multifunctional infrastructure of the Port allows handling different cargo groups i.e. containers, liquid and dry bulk, general, conventional and Ro-Ro cargo.

There are 7 terminals operating at Sillamäe at present:

1. ALEXELA SILLAMÄE - light and dark oil products and mineral oils;
2. TANKCHEM/ EUROCHEM - liquid chemicals and petrochemicals;
3. BALTIC CHEMICAL TERMINAL (BCT) - liquid fertilizers, ammonia and UAN (a solution of urea and ammonium nitrate);
4. SILSTEVE - 4 different terminals: finished vehicles, general and bulk cargo, shale oil and heavy oil products and a Ro-Ro & Passenger terminal.

In 2009 container handling equipment was put into operation and today SILSTEVE is already handling also containers.

SILSTEVE 5th Container terminal will have 850 m of quay line, depth 14,5 m, 40 ha of territory, 3 container and 2 universal portal cranes, which are already at port and first of them in operation.

According to the development plan for the Port of Sillamäe:

1. 600 ha of land + 50 ha of land regained from the sea for dry bulk, ro-ro and dedicated container terminals; additional up to 100 ha regained land from the sea would be completed by the year 2012;
2. expanding Sillamäe Railway Station up to 18 tracks, incl. 6 tracks 1500 m long each;
3. 90 ha of land for new cars with the capacity for 45 000 cars;
4. new LPG, LNG, container (SCT) and other terminals are planned for the nearest future.
